The next time you are in a classroom, look around the room. Seven out of every 10 high school students want to run their own business someday. The other three will work for someone else. Prepare now for your future by enrolling in a business class. Students are taught communication strategies, basic business skills, information technology applications, accounting, and are provided with real-life learning experiences. In addition, instruction in the Business Program incorporates and reinforces the Virginia Standards of Learning (SOL).
